Multi-colored pots and pans	cookie and pastry cutters

wide variety of stoneware plates and bowls	zabuton(floor cushions)
paper lanterns (ready or custom made)	snow cone machines
noren (doorway curtain)	plastic display foods

Don't forget to pay your respects to the chef who oversees the area. His giant statue (bust) can be seen atop the corner shop, across from the police box, at the south end of the street (see map).

On your return trip from Kappa Bashi, you might enjoy the following sights in the Asakusa area:

Iriyama Sembei, a rice cracker shop that has been in continuous operation for more than 80 years. If you arrive between 1000 & 1300 or 1500 & 1800, you can watch several members of the owner's family as they toast their special brand of crackers over an open charcoal brazier.

The shop just mentioned is located on Sushiya Dori. As the name implies, the street is lined with dozens of small restaurants, most of which serve Sushi as the main dish. A sign in English (Romaji) identifies the entrance to this street from Kaminarimon Dori.
